

Summer Reading

Here is a list of books you may have your child choose from for summer reading. These books are on independent reading levels that are appropriate for a range of our rising second graders. If your child is currently reading below level according to the report card, please choose books closer to the I-J level for independent reading to start with. If your child is currently reading on level, choices could be from I-K to begin, and for above level readers, any from the list may be appropriate. Most of the books on the list are series books, so if your child finds one they like, there may be several others that they could continue with! As always, continue reading regularly to or with your child as that is also a great way to improve comprehension and find enjoyment in books! A goal would be to read 20 minutes most days.
